

June 2018

Dear Parents,

Enclosed is a list of suggested books to read to your child this summer. On the list are many excellent authors representing a variety of award winning children's books. This list is intended only as a guide to help you find books that you can enjoy reading with your son or daughter this summer.

Reading is important to young children for many reasons. The time that it allows you to spend with your child is priceless. When you read to young children it also helps to instill a love of reading and books in them. Your child's vocabulary and attention span will also increase. Reading opens up doors to new worlds for children.

Enjoy your summer and happy reading.
